

Reference

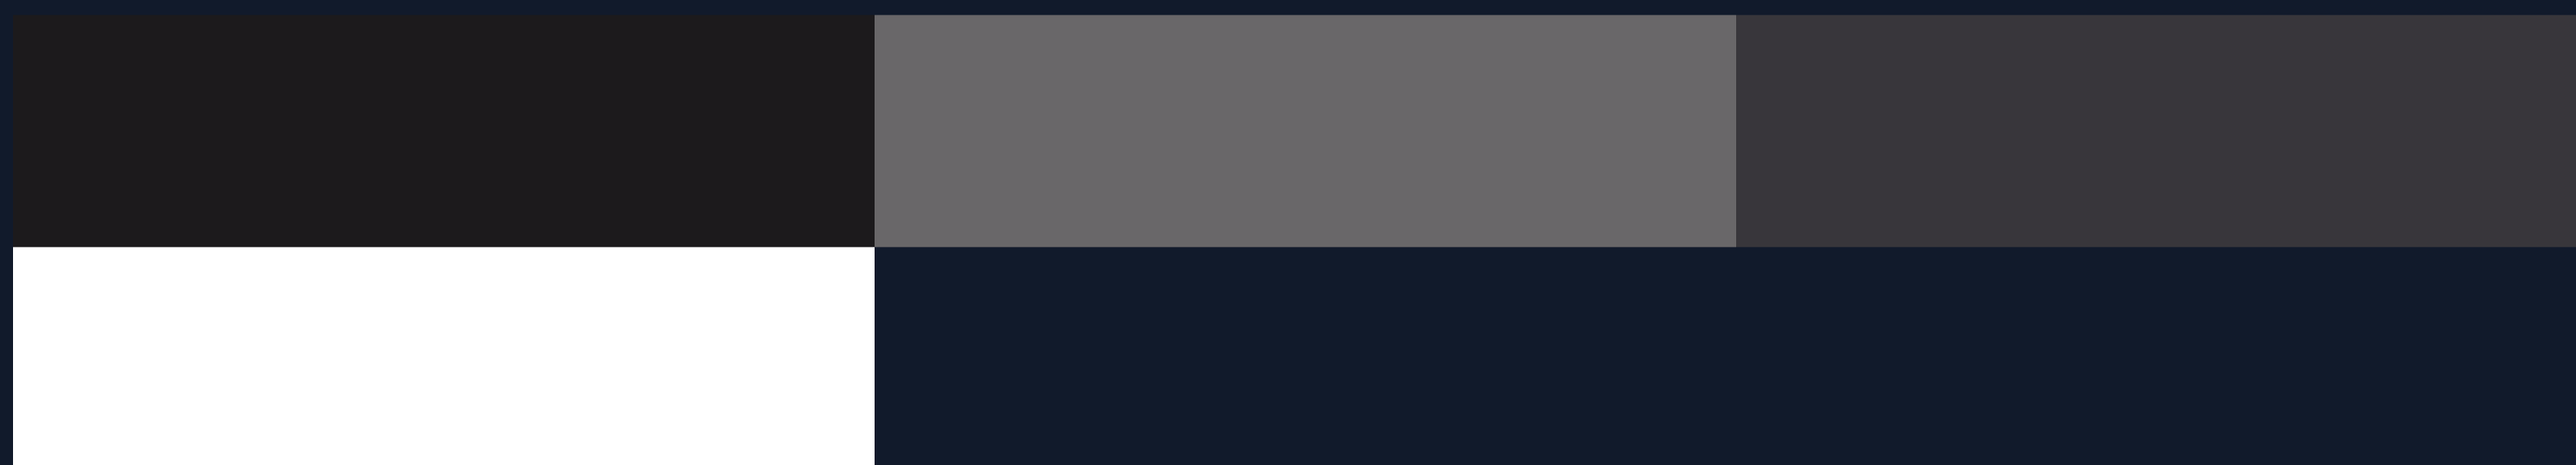

Colors

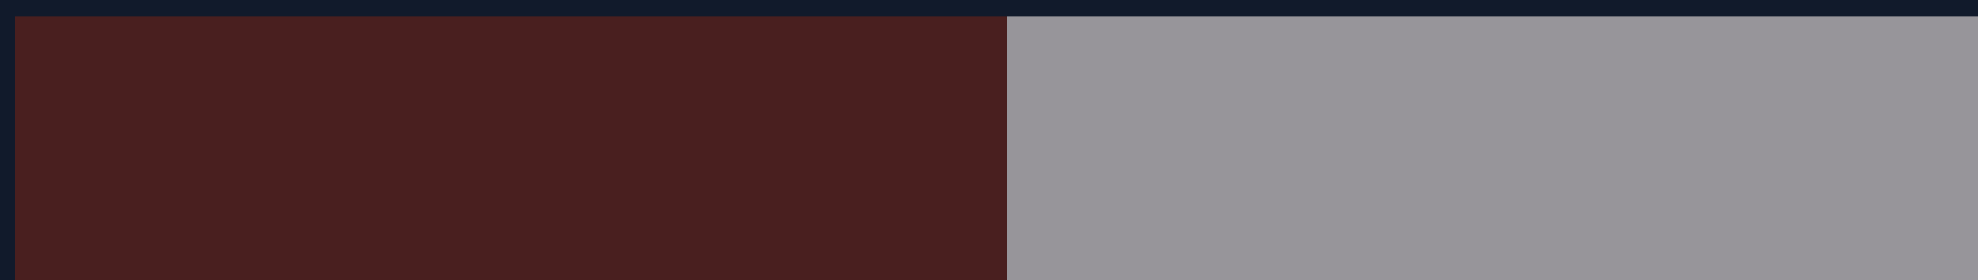

Character

Clothes

Collar

Description

Character Name: Kentai Radiquum

Species: Red Panda

Gender: Male

Height and Build: Average height, slim build

Appearance

His fur is pink with blue on his paws and hair, while his chest, paw tips, and tail lines stand out in white. He wears a stylish, slightly worn black denim jacket. His black-and-gray cargo pants with white straps complete the look, reflecting his practical nature and penchant for order (his pockets always have room for essentials like USB drives or candy). Around his neck, he sports a burgundy leather collar with a metal tag, showcasing his individuality. His outfit is rounded off with a T-shirt that boasts an amusingly honest caption: "I'm a programmer, I go click click click on the computer"

Personality

Kentai is friendly but introverted. He values personal space and prefers socializing in small, trusted circles. His sarcastic sense of humor sometimes gives the impression of being reserved, but it conceals a deep kindness. He is curious, loves exploring new things, especially in the field of technology, and has a sharp mind. While he may seem calm outwardly, there's a storm of ideas brewing inside him, which he's constantly working to bring to life.

Hobbies

- Programming: Kentai practically lives and breathes code. To him, programming is not just work but an art form.
- Music: A big fan of artists like S3RL, Camellia, Smash Into Pieces, Linkin Park, Porter Robinson, Saint Motel, and others.
- Plush Toys: He has a special fondness for plush toys. His collection includes two red pandas and one large regular panda. These toys are a source of comfort and joy for him.

Habits

- Loves working at his own pace and often dives deeply into his projects.
- When deeply focused, his tail gently wags.
- Sometimes adjusts his collar while pondering a tough problem.
- Enjoys listening to music while working.
- Occasionally hums melodies from his favorite tracks, especially when feeling relaxed.
- In debates, he tends to gesture rapidly.
- Enjoys "cozy moments" — relaxing with one of his plush toys, wrapped in a blanket, and listening to music.